Cement Sewer Pipe.

OSHKOSH, Oct. 29, 1884.—For the information of those who are misled concerning Cement Sewer-pipe, I wish to state that such sewer pipe is being very extensively manufactured and used in the State of Wisconsin, and is preferred to vitrified. First, for its great strength and durability, it being from one-third to one-half stronger, and less liable to crush in the ditch. Being solidly packed, in making, between iron moulds, it becomes impervious to water or acids, and, if one of these pipes, such as made in Wisconsin, is cemented tight at one end and filled with water, the water will stay there until it evaporates, which shows that it does not filter through. The older this pipe gets, the harder and more rock-like it becomes. Second, this pipe is preferred to all others on account of its shape. The larger sizes are egg-shape, contracting the flow in a narrow channel at the bottom, increasing its velocity, keeping it clean and at the same time having a large area above for a larger volume of water when needed. It also has a flat base, which makes it lay firm in the ditch, keeping it in shape, while a round pipe is more liable to roll and get out of shape, either in the filling or settling of the ditch. Cement pipe has been used for sewers in England and various parts of the old world for over one hundred years, and has proved indestructible, either by the action of sewage or time, and is still very extensively used in London and various other European cities. Brooklyn, N. Y., has over fifty miles of cement pipe sewers, laid from twenty to forty years ago, and still giving perfect satisfaction. Query: Why is cement used in brick sewers, and plastered all over the interior surface? Simply because sewage will not go through it to be filtered through the porous brick. Yours respectfully, C. B. HEWITT.

SHORTER HOURS!
We have decided at the opening of the Spring and Summer season to take a stand against the old-fashioned custom of keeping open all night, and to show our sympathy with all Workingmen by keeping shorter hours, by which means we give our hard worked clerks the benefit of a part of their evenings to themselves. We feel that by this arrangement we shall be able to serve our patrons and the public as well or better than before.
Hereafter we shall close our store evenings at 8 P. M., except Saturday at 10 o'clock, opening promptly at 6 o'clock A. M.
Our Stock of Choice Groceries and Fruits in their season is more complete than ever, and we can say in all confidence as Retailers as well as Wholesalers, we are offering Special Inducements to our Patrons.

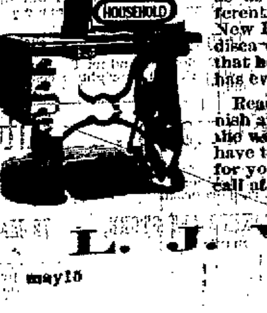
BE SURE AND READ THIS!



Mr. JOHN H. GORDON, Brooks, Me., Pant Factory,
Says that in 1881 he put in Six Household Sewing Machines as an experiment. On trial at the same time he had Six different makes of machines running, viz.: American, Singer, New Haven, Domestic, White and Weed. That he has since discarded them all and now has thirty Households running; that he considers the Household far ahead of any machine he has ever used.
Reader—If you want a Sewing Machine, don't forget we furnish any machine made. If you want a Piano, we have all the well-known standard makes. If you want an Organ, we have them all. If you wish to save money, it only remains for you to investigate, get everybody's lowest prices and then call at 76 Main Street.
Yours to Command,
L. J. WHEELDEN.

A REPUBLICAN
State Convention
WILL BE HELD IN CITY HALL, LEWISTON,
Wednesday, June 9th, 1886,
AT 11 O'CLOCK, A. M.,

For the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor to be supported at the September election, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1884 an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, an additional delegate.

The State Committee will be in session in the Reception Room of the hall at nine o'clock on the morning of the Convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

All electors of Maine who are in favor of maintaining a Protective Tariff; who will join in resisting the attempt now being made in a Democratic House of Representatives to injure many of the leading industrial interests of Maine; who are in favor of elevating and dignifying human labor by securing to the laborer his just reward; who demand freedom of suffrage throughout the republic and an honest counting of the ballots; who uphold all judicious measures for the encouragement of American shipbuilding; who believe in an honest and responsible civil service and in an economical administration of the Government; who approve the Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic and the Promotion of the cause of Temperance, are cordially invited, without regard to past political differences, to unite with the Republicans in the selection of delegates to this Convention.

Per order, Republican State Committee.
JOSEPH H. MANLEY, Chairman.
WILLIS H. WING, Secretary.
Augusta, Me., April 16, 1886.

REPUBLICAN District Convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District of Maine, composed of the Counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis, Aroostook and Washington, are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be held at the City Hall, in Bangor, on Tuesday, June 8th, 1886, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative from this District for the Fiftieth Congress, and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the Convention.

Basis of representation—Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1884, an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, an additional delegate.

Competitive Examination for Naval Cadetship.

Fourth Congressional District.

The undersigned, having been notified by the Secretary of the Navy to recommend a candidate for appointment as Naval Cadet, to fill the vacancy for the Fourth Congressional District of Maine, at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., hereby announces that an opportunity will be afforded to any of the youth of the District who desire to compete for the nomination at a competitive examination to be held at Bangor, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, June 22d, 1886, by a committee representing the different counties.

The Revised Statutes, Section 1517, provide:

"Candidates for appointment as Naval Cadets allowed for Congressional districts, for Territories, and for the District of Columbia, must be actual residents of the districts or territories respectively from which they are nominated. And all candidates must at the time of their examination for admission, be between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, and physically sound, well-formed, and of robust constitution."

The candidate recommended by this examining committee will be again examined at the Academy for admission September 1, 1886.

Candidates will be required to furnish recommendations as to character and to submit to a thorough physical examination, and evidence of feeble constitution, retarded development, chronic disease, impaired faculties, or impediment of speech will be sufficient cause for rejection. The minimum height will be five feet.

Candidates will be examined mentally in reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, English grammar, history, and algebra. All the examinations, except in reading, will be written. Deficiency in any one of these subjects will be sufficient to insure the rejection of a candidate. The person recommended by the examining committee as the best qualified will be recommended for appointment.

A candidate who successfully passes the September examination by the Academic Board will receive appointment as Naval Cadet and will become an inmate of the Academy. Each cadet will be required to sign articles by which he binds himself to serve in the United States Navy eight years (including his time of probation at the Naval Academy) unless sooner discharged. Of the graduates from the six years course at the Naval Academy, a limited number will be appointed to fill vacancies in the Navy each year. Surplus graduates who do not receive such appointments will be given a certificate of graduation, an honorable discharge and one year's sea pay as provided for Naval Cadets.

Those desiring to compete will please send to me, at Bangor, notification to that effect by June 18th, and on application by letter candidates will be furnished with more particular statement of the requirements.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Some of the nobbiest of willow and rattan baby carriages are being manufactured by Keene and Brown of North Turner.

The Grand Army Council of Administration will meet in Auburn next Tuesday. The feasibility of a semi-annual encampment will be a subject of discussion.

Lewiston is obliged to make arrangements at the city farm for the care of the milder patients now provided for at the Insane Asylum at Augusta. A letter from Dr. Sanborn to the Lewiston authorities, says that at present, seventeen patients are being supported at the Insane Asylum by the city of Lewiston.

Sixty wholesale buyers of boots and shoes are in Boston from the West and South, and contracts for heavy boots for next winter's use have been placed with New England manufacturers to as great an aggregate as is sometimes reached by the 1st of July. The shoe manufacturers of Auburn and Lewiston were never busier than now.

One of the queer cases of domestic infelicity which will soon be tried on a divorce libel in the court of this county is the outgrowth of a difficulty which arose on an evening twenty-five years ago between a husband and wife, then of middle age. The date is fixed by the fact that the difference arose at about the time of the birth of a daughter now a woman. During all these wearisome years the husband and wife have lived together, but have not spoken.

Aroostook.

Houlton's Fourth of July programme is announced by the Pioneer. It includes an oration, base ball game, exhibition of fire companies, band concert, fireworks and all the other well-established customs appropriate to the occasions. The celebration will take place on Saturday, July 3d.

Cumberland.

A little three months old child of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Marshal, of Portland, that was suffering from congestion of the lungs, was given a preparation of paregoric, sweet oil and carbolic acid by mistake for cough mixture, and died.

Before United States Commissioner Hallett in Boston, Monday, John A. Pose, captain of the bark Samuel E. Spring of Portland, was held in $500 bonds for trial in New York, upon a charge of paying advance wages to seamen in violation of the Dingley act.

The iron steamship Frostburg, from Baltimore, Capt. Mills, arrived at Portland, Tuesday, with over a thousand tons of coal for the Portland & Rochester railroad, and is unloading at the Portland & Rochester wharf, near Portland & Rochester junction.

Mr. Trueman Harmon, a well-known broker, died suddenly Tuesday at his residence in Deering of apoplexy. Mr. Harmon was a native of Unity. He was formerly in trade in Waldo county, and for about eight years was collector of customs at Belfast. After his retirement from this post he removed to Deering, where he has since resided. He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Kennebec.

The crew at Sturgis, Lumbard & Co's mill in Augusta sawed in one day, recently, 45,000 feet of lumber. This was one of the best day's record ever made at the mill.

Monday, George Ricker, of Augusta, was jammed between two mules at the cotton mill so that it is feared he will not recover. He was injured internally.

Knox.

E. P. Laughton, a feather peddler, reported last Wednesday that he had been robbed of $80 at the Lindsey House, Rockland. J. Adams, who was registered at the house, was arrested in Bath the next day charged with the larceny.

Sloop Hero has discharged about fifty tons of powdered oyster shells at Rockland. This shell is found on a bar adjoining Georges Island, where it has been pulverized by the action of the waves. It is used by farmers and poultry-men in large quantities for feeding to fowls.

While Judson B. Winslow was preparing a blast, Monday, in R. W. Messer's quarry, in Rockland, the fuse ignited in some way, and Winslow was thrown down and badly hurt by the flying rock, besides having a hand and arm severely cut.

At the meeting of the corporators of the Rockland Savings Bank, last week, Robert Crockett, T. W. Hix and Samuel Bryant were re-elected on the board of directors, and John T. Berry, John S. Case, A. J. Bird and Francis Cobb added to the board. Two of the last named are old bank presidents, and together the board is an exceedingly solid one.

Oxford.

While Irving Ingalls, of Denmark, was hauling rocks a day or two ago, the drag swung round and struck him below the knee, breaking the limb.

Wm. M. Shaw, engineer, and Winnie Hodgman, fireman, on the Norway Branch, were both discharged last week by the Grand Trunk Railroad Company for alleged infraction of the rules of the company, says the Oxford Democrat.

In Byron, the other day a little son of Mr. J. Reed treed a young bear. The boy was afraid the mother bear was near, and so shouted for help. Help came and secured the little cub alive which weighed only two and one half pounds.

Last Sunday, Pearlie Crawford of North Paris, and Moses Spaulding, of Sumner, and Stephen Spaulding of North Buckfield, were sailing on North Pond when the boat capsized and, as it went over one of the row-locks caught in the breast pocket of Crawford's coat and carried him under. He was unable to extricate himself until he thought of his knife, when he got it out of his pocket and cut his coat. He then floated to the top and got on the boat with the others. They had lost their oars and were obliged to let the boat drift. It was about three hours before they succeeded in reaching land. When they reached the shore they were completely chilled through. Crawford started for assistance, and on reaching the house, he was unable to stand but told of the accident, when help started for the others. When found they were unconscious. They were carried to the house and it was nearly an hour before they returned to consciousness. Among the things that were lost was a pocket-book of Crawford's, which contained a $100 note and some orders for apple trees.

Somerset.

The coat manufactories at Norridgewock are rushed with work. Messrs. Spaulding and Ingalls have their coats come by the carload. This is a great contrast with last summer when the shops could hardly get work enough to keep them running. Such a revival in business is bringing many to the village. The new comers experience great difficulty in getting rents and at present there is hardly a vacant tenement in the village. Rents are high, and it is hoped that several new houses for renting will be put up during the summer.

Washington.

An Eastport lady owns a beautiful large rose bush which now has fifty-nine full blown white roses and more than one hundred buds.

A few days since the fishermen at East Machias took the first alewives of the season. Preparation is noticeable all along the shores for the fishing season. It is hoped that all will remember that only three days, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are legal fish days in each week. The other days are given to the fish.

Our Castine Letter.

[Regular Correspondence Whig & Courier.]

A large number of our town's teachers and delegation of Normal teachers and students attended the meeting of the Hancock County Teachers' Institute at Penobscot, last Friday and Saturday.

Mr. W. A. Ricker has the DAILY WHIG AND COURIER on sale at his store on arrival of stage. It will have a large sale during the summer months.

The Congregational Sunday School gave an interesting concert on Sunday evening, which was very largely attended. The programme was quite lengthy, but carried out in full, the children taking a very active part.

Schooner Addie L. Perkins, Sellers, arrived Monday from Portland, with general cargo, for Castine and Penobscot merchants.

Mr. W. T. Hooper sold a fine driving black mare last week to Mr. Thomas Hooper, of Gorham, N. H. She was shipped by Richmond, Monday.

Chief Engineer E. F. Davies had the hand tubs Hector and the old Bagaduce out and thoroughly overhauled and cleaned on Tuesday.

Willis, son of W. A. Ricker, was hit in the temple with a stone thrown by a school mate on Monday noon, and received a very bad wound. It bled considerably and was dressed by a physician.

Mr. G. M. Warren left for Boston by Richmond, Monday, on business.

Last week the boiler of the Cape Rosier Mine broke down which necessitated sending to Bangor for a man to repair it. It is now in running order and work has again begun. Understand about twenty tons of ore is taken out weekly by the Company.

Mr. John F. Rea left Tuesday morning for Bangor, taking two horses to exchange.

There is to be a game of base ball at Fort George on Saturday, between the Normals and the Seminary of Bucksport, which promises to be pretty close. The Normal nine is in excellent training and expect to make a good record. The visiting nine will be accompanied by an excursion from Bucksport.

Pleasant Affair at Vanceboro.

[Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

The dining hall of Ross' Hotel, Vanceboro, Tuesday evening, was filled with the members of Vanceboro Lodge No. 4, A. O. U. W., and the Odd Fellows from various lodges on both sides of the line, with invited citizens who had gathered to say good-by to Dr. M. L. Young who is about leaving for the West, after a residence in Vanceboro of a little more than a year. Supper was given in honor of the occasion, and it was served in a manner that did credit to the new landlord, Mr. G. W. Ross, who is now the proprietor in place of the well-known M. L. Ross, Esq. The Vanceboro Cornet Band, Robert Eals, Leader, played several pieces very acceptably. Mr. E. F. Jameson presided, being Master Workman of the A. O. U. W. Toast, "Our Guests," responded to by G. M. B. Sprague, Esq. The A. O. U. W. responded to by Dr. Porter, of Danforth. The I. O. O. F. responded to by Samuel Watts, Esq., of McAdam, N. B. Short speeches were made by others. "America," and "God save the Queen," were sung by all. Dr. Young spoke feelingly and well. He has made many friends during his short stay here, and carries with him to his new home, Burden, Kansas, the good wishes of all.

The Hermon High School.

[Correspondence of the Whig and Courier.]

Without doubt the most successful term of High school ever taught in this village, closed last Friday night with public exercises consisting of select readings, declamations, vocal and instrumental music. A large audience tendered the students hearty commendation. The school has been under the tuition of F. A. Spratt, A. B., and Miss Emma Kennedy. Examination by the school committee showed the work to be thorough and discipline excellent. We as parents are grateful to Mr. Spratt. His popularity as teacher is attested by the fact that seventy-two students were registered during the term. Particular credit is due Mr. Spratt for his instruction in Latin. His thorough education and practical methods render him one of our best instructors. It is to be hoped that Mr. Spratt will make teaching his life work.

Militia Orders.

The following orders just issued from the headquarters of the Maine Militia explain themselves:

Headquarters Maine Militia,
Adjutant General's Office,
Augusta, May 14th, 1886.

General Orders, No. 2.

I. The following competitions have been arranged by the Inspector of Rifle Practice, Col. E. C. Farrington, and will take place during the coming Encampment at Bangor:

Regimental Skirmish Match—Fifty men from each Regiment; distance 100 to 400 yards, unknown; rounds 20; position must be lying, sitting or kneeling; target second class; one shot only at each halt; the command will move at the sound of the bugle, halt at the bugle call, advancing and retreating, firing at each halt, sufficient time will be allowed to arrange sight. Prize, elegant framed picture, Battle of Gettysburg.

Company Skirmish Match—Distance 100 to 200 yards; third class target, firing points unknown; rounds 10; five shots fired in advancing and five in retreating. Companies competing with more than thirty-five men, will have points additional added to their score for each man in excess of thirty-five. Companies competing with less than thirty-five men, will have five points deducted for each man less than thirty-five—Not less than twenty-five men allowed to compete; highest per cent. to win; Cartridges, U. S. Cartridge Company, Lowell, Mass.; Prize, a silk flag costing $100, presented by the State, to become the property of the Company winning it three times. This flag will be new, and according to G. O. 13, of the Commander-in-Chief, issued at the last Annual Encampment, Company C, 2d Regiment, M. V. M., Dexter, has been credited with winning it twice.

Regimental Team Match—Team five men; rounds seven each distance; ammunition, any; distance 200 yards, third-class target; 500 yards, second-class target; no sighting at 200 yards, two sighting shots will be allowed at 500 yards; highest scores to win; prize, cash, $15, to be divided among the men on the winning team.

II. The Company team and company skirmish matches and the individual championship matches will be deferred until later in the season. The Inspector of Rifle Practice desires to urge upon the different companies, the importance of commencing armory instruction and drill in aiming, as well as practice upon the range, in order to be prepared for the competitions to take place.

General Orders, No. 3.

I. The following opinion, rendered by Judge Danforth of the Supreme Judicial Court, is published for the information of the Militia:

Gardiner, Me., Feb. 27, 1886.

To the Governor of Maine:

Gen'l Gallagher having called my attention to chap. 260, sec. 2, of the acts of 1874, and sec. 170 of the Militia Act of 1880, with the request for my opinion as to whether the former is repealed by the latter under the provisions of sec. 177, by which all previous inconsistent acts are repealed. I am of the opinion that the earlier law by which certain officers are to be commissioned for six years is still in force. The repealing section must be limited by its terms and, of course, repeals only earlier inconsistent laws. The first law provides for the time during which the commission shall continue. The later provides for the authority from whom the commission shall come. Between these, I see no inconsistency, and hence am of the opinion that the act of 1874, chap. 260, sec. 2, is in force, and the commissions there provided for can continue in force but six years.

CHARLES DANFORTH, J. S. J. C.

II. In accordance with the foregoing opinion, all military commissions will expire at the end of six years from date of rank.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.
S. J. GALLAGHER,
Adjutant General.

A PUBLIC BENEFACTION.
How to laundry linen as it is done in Troy, N. Y., has been kept a secret long enough; it can and should be done in every family. The Elastic Starch is the only starch in the United States that is put up by men who have a practical knowledge of the laundry profession. It requires no cooking, keeps the iron from sticking and linen from blistering while ironing, and gives shirts, cuffs and collars that stiffness and beautiful polish they have when new, which everybody knows, keeps them clean twice as long. Beware of imitations. See that the name J. C. HUBINGER & BRO., New Haven, Conn., is on every package.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1886.

The Republican Caucuses.

The Republicans of Bangor held their caucuses for the election of delegates to the State and District Conventions last evening. The large attendance in every ward showed the deep interest taken in the coming campaign, which will be one of much importance to the people of this State. As will be seen by reference to another column Bangor's delegation embraces many of our most prominent citizens, and it is safe to say that in point of business and social standing as well as sterling Republicanism the representatives from this city in both the State and District Conventions will compare favorably with those from any other section of the State. The State delegation is unanimously in favor of the nomination of Hon. A. C. Hamlin as a candidate for Governor. The resolution, which we publish elsewhere, expresses the unanimous opinion that the nomination belongs to the eastern section of the State and presents the name of Dr. Hamlin as Bangor's candidate. This handsome endorsement by his fellow-citizens cannot be otherwise than highly gratifying to the Doctor whose candidacy is now strengthened by the important fact that he has a solid home delegation behind him. The gentleman in question needs no introduction to the people of this State where his record in military and civil life is well known. The high compliment paid Mr. Boutelle in the election of a home delegation solidly in favor of his renomination will be thoroughly appreciated by him as a most valuable endorsement of his course as their Representative in Congress. The nominating conventions will be held next month after which the work of the campaign will commence in earnest and everything points to a good old fashioned Republican victory.

The bluffing tone of the Ohio Democrats has disappeared, and the Cincinnati Enquirer represents them as willing to appeal to time for a vindication of their conduct on the fraud business.

The sentence imposed upon Jaehne, the New York ex-Alderman by Judge Barrett, nine years and ten months in State prison, will be commended by law abiding citizens everywhere. It is to be hoped that the rest of the "boodle gang" may receive the same prompt treatment.

A Democratic editor makes the charge that a friend of the unsavory Higgins came to him and said the latter could secure an appointment for him for $1,000 and that he paid over the money but has not been given the coveted position. This is serious business for a reform Adminstration.

Congressman Boutelle having received a private telegram informing him of the refusal of the Dominion authorities to permit the Eastport schooner to purchase herring at Digby, N. S., called at the State Department yesterday and received assurance that an immediate inquiry would be made into the matter.

Editor Rust, of the Progressive Age, does not like the WHIG. This is in the nature of an indirect compliment to the WHIG for which the editor of our Belfast contemporary has our sincere thanks. Just why he should refer to our remarks about his chronic candidacy for office as "hash" is not so clear, however, unless it is because of the many different ways it has been served upon the Democratic party since he flopped. It has become sort of a standard thing and from present indications is not altogether palatable.

A justice of the peace in Missaukee Co., Mich., delivered the following charge to the jury in the trial of his first case: "Gentlemen of the jury charging a jury is a new business to me, as this is my first case. You have heard all the evidence as well as myself, and you have also heard what the counsel for the plaintiff has told you. If you believe it your verdict will be for the plaintiff; but if, on the other hand, you believe what the counsel for the defendant has told you, your verdict will be for the defendant. But if you are like me, and don't believe what either of them has said, then I'll be blanked if I know what you will do. Constable, take charge of the jury."

The report comes from Washington that Minister West asserts that the British Government will not sustain the action of the Dominion authorities, which it is conceded was hasty and ill advised, and that proper reparation will have to be made for the seizure of the American fishing vessels. Such is the only logical conclusion to be reached in the matter, as the right of American vessels to enter Canadian ports for purposes of trade is beyond question. Notwithstanding the alleged position of the British Government, however, we believe that the bill before Congress relating to commercial privileges should become a law without delay for the future protection of our rights.

The stale cry of "subsidy" and "lobby" which are raised by free trade journals whenever any proposition to revive American commerce is brought forward have been louder than usual of late, says a Washington despatch. This was probably due to the large majority by which the amendment to the Post Office Appropriation bill was adopted in the Senate. The existing American steamship lines which would be affected by this amendment have thought it necessary to deny unqualifiedly this stale old cry about the use of money. Mr. Hale presented the denial in the Senate signed by the Presidents of the lines. As the majority in the Senate in favor of the amendment was so large, the talk about lobby influence could be regarded as hardly less than silly. On the other hand, it is well known that agents of certain foreign steamship lines have been exerting their influence to defeat this amendment. In his remarks on the subject Mr. Hale said that when the great effort to revive American commerce prevailed in Congress, as it would in time, it would be due to the quickening interest of the people on the subject. In their memorial the steamship Presidents say that this report about a lobby is doubtless raised to excite prejudice against the fair proposition that American steamers, like those of other countries with whom they have to compete, shall receive reasonable compensation for carrying the mails. The Government now receives $2,100,000 annually for postage on foreign mail matter, and it can well afford to expend $800,000 in aiding American lines in a way that will increase the commerce of the nation.

A Democratic club in Boston has at last indorsed Collector Saltonstall. This change of heart has been brought about by the assurance that many changes would soon be made in the Custom House.

The New York World has reached the conclusion that "Ohio is a fine State to be ashamed of just now." As the Democratic politicians are responsible for the disgraceful condition of affairs that has prevailed in Ohio this frank confession on the part of a Democratic organ is an encouraging sign.

Gen. Gordon is a candidate for Governor of Georgia, and took advantage of Jeff. Davis' visit to make a little stumping tour. While he was speaking at Oglethorp, says the Macon Telegraph, an old countryman sat near upon a root, shaving a pine stick. When the orator finished, the countryman was heard to mumble as though arguing with a friend "Well! He did all the fightin' endurin' the war, he whipped all the Yankees, he saved Georgy, an' South Calliny an' Floridy, an' Loousyany an' the rest of the States, an' he built all the railroads by hisself. That fellow needs rest an' I ain't fo' crowdin' the Governor's job onto him. Bacon is a big, strong fellow an' seems to want to do somethin'. I reckon we'd better let him try it awhile."

A Sample of Cheap Labor.

[Philadelphia Press.]

The London Times has recently sent a correspondent to Belgium to look into the condition of labor in that country. In a letter dated from Liege, the correspondent gives a terrible picture of the want and suffering in the industrial regions of this country. If something is not speedily done he believes, wanton distruction will ensue. It will not be a revolution, but "a gigantic catastrophe." Some time ago Belgium started out with the great idea of manufacturing cheaply, and it has carried this idea out until it probably excels all other European countries in this one respect. In this race for cheapness it has utterly disregarded the condition of its laboring population. Children of tender years are allowed to labor, young girls and mothers are still permitted to perform the work of beasts of burden in the coal mines, and twelve or fourteen hours is considered a day's work. England, France, Germany have all passed Belgium in legislation to improve the condition of labor.

The recent labor troubles and those that are like to come in the future are, according to the correspondent of the London Times, caused thorough poverty. The object is revenge, coupled with the "vague hope that something better may arise out of the embers, and the certainty that matters could scarcely be made worse." The average wages earned in the mines at Seraing are 57½ cents per day. About 5 per cent of the men make from 80 cents to $1 per day, but such work brings early decay, and men after 40 have little chance of obtaining employment of this description. Those who push the trucks and load the coal rarely make 40 cents per day.

Nor is this terrible condition of affairs confined to the mineral and metal workers. We quote the exact words of the correspondent: "Other workers besides the miners are suffering equally. At Liege 4f. (80 cents) a day is considered the highest wage, and is but rarely obtained; 2f. (40 cents), or 3f. (60 cents) is more usual, even for skilled artisans. The shops at Liege, as well as those situated near the iron-works and the mines, are, therefore, also in great difficulties, and the dissatisfaction is spreading every day."

What do the American artisans who are earning their $2.50, $3 and even $5 a day for ten hours' work think of this sort of pay? Do they realize that the only barrier between this sort of labor and American labor is the protective tariff? Do they fully realize that a decrease of hours may give this sort of labor an additional advantage in this market for the products of their labor and that the proposed Morrison Tariff bill will give them still another advantage?

How does the Belgian workman live? Bread is his chief food. On Sundays he may have a little meat; on week days "he eats his bread dry, or with a little falsified butter, or with sausage, which is sold at eighteen cents the pound." This sausage is made, the Times correspondent says, with pork and horseflesh. For this purpose, we are informed, "four old, decrepid, tough, but not diseased," horses are slaughtered every week at Seraing. This is done under municipal surveillance. While food is thus wanting what matters it whether the cost of the other articles that make life endurable is high or low? We ask Mr. Morrison, Mr. Hewitt, Mr. Carlisle, the New York Post, the New York Times and the Philadelphia Record this question, and challenge a straightforward answer. "The Belgium workmen dispense with everything but food that keeps life in the body and clothing that hides absolute nakedness. The small tradesmen are as bad off as the workmen and are on the verge of bankruptcy, because the workmen consume nothing. "For them," says the correspondent, "the future is full of menace, and they will applaud any measure, even a revolution if it will raise the wages of their customers, the workmen." And this is the degradation of the race for cheapness. Belgium has free raw material; she has little if any tariff.

Speaker Carlisle in Bad Favor.

A Cincinnati despatch to the New York World, Dem., says: Speaker Carlisle has awakened the resentment of some of his political friends. Some of the Democrats of Covington, Ky., Mr. Carlisle's home and the principal city in his Congressional district, are indignant because he has caused Peter Nodler to be appointed their postmaster. It's charged that Mr. Nodler is not a working Democrat, and that the Speaker's recommendation to the President was made after he had directly promised other friends in Covington, and that Mr. Carlisle deceived his constituents in the matter. Further, it is said that Carlisle was induced to select Nodler through the influence of Capt. W. G. Terrell, a former Republican politician and newspaper man in Covington and the man who killed Mr. Harry Keyers, Carlisle's opponent in a Congressional race many years ago. Terrell is a very unpopular man in Covington, and the suggestion that he may be directing Carlisle's actions has greatly incensed the public.

These facts have resulted in a strong movement among the Democrats of the district to defeat Carlisle for Congress next fall. To-day the Covington Commonwealth, the Democratic organ, publishes a sensational attack on the Speaker, charging him with falsehood, deceit and party treason in his post office appointment. The Commonwealth, which has always been Carlisle's friend and supporter, will lead the revolt, and promises to publish Carlisle's record. Carlisle is expected home in a few days.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.

MAINE NEWS.

THE ELLA M. DOUGHTY.

Letter From Senator Frye.

The Responsibility with the President and Secretary of State.

PORTLAND, May 20. This evening Messrs. Sargent, Lord & Skillin, part owners of schooner Ella M. Doughty, received the following letter from Senator Frye:

Gentlemen: Your letter and telegram received. I believe I have entirely exhausted all my resources in the fishery matter. I passed through the Senate a day or two since, a law authorizing the President to retaliate by closing our ports against Canada and as I attached it to the House shipping bill I think it will be a law in a few days. Congress can do nothing more. The entire responsibility is now with the President and Secretary of State. They move very slowly; all diplomacy is timid and slow going.

That the Administration wants a commission or reciprocal treaty I have no doubt, but the decided expressions of opinion on the part of the Senate may call a halt. I am entirely clear that your vessel cannot be forfeited under the treaty of 1818 and that under the laws of Great Britain and this country she had a right to purchase that which she wished to supply herself with. Of course she must yield obedience to the customs laws of Canada. I shall be absent for the next two weeks and if you wish to communicate with any one here please write Senator Hale, who will take a lively interest in any matters affecting the interests of Maine men.

I am yours, very truly,
WILLIAM P. FRYE.

THE CASE OF THE JENNIE AND JULIA.

Congressman Boutelle Presents Her Case at the State Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20. Congressman Boutelle called at the State Department this morning with a private telegram received by him, reporting the refusal of the customs authorities at Digby, N. S., to allow the American schooner Jennie and Julia to buy herring "for any purpose" whatever. Mr. Boutelle was told that the Department had not yet received any official information of this matter, but would make immediate inquiry.

THE GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL.

Matters Before the Board.

AUGUSTA, May 20. At the meeting of the Governor and Council to-day pardons were asked for William H. Quinn, who has served out four months of a fifteen months' sentence to Portland jail for rum selling, also for Ben. D. Smith, the learned blacksmith, sentenced from Cumberland county to the State Prison for six years, for larceny, one year of which he has served. Both matters were tabled.

Superintendent B. T. Sanborn of the Insane Hospital, appeared before the board and answered questions relative to John Martin, an inmate of the institution, it being said that he was in a condition to be taken away. It was decided, after obtaining all the light possible, that he remain. Martin has been in the State Prison and at the hospital two years, having been sentenced to four years in the State Prison for shooting at one Alvin Deering in Portland.

It was decided that a commission as private detective be issued to Robert A. Davis.

The next meeting of the Council will be the 2?th of June.

FROM MECHANIC FALLS.

Secretary Elected.

MECHANIC FALLS, May 20. The Masonic Mutual Relief Association has elected James H. Decoster secretary, vice Frank Ross, deceased.

FROM PORTLAND.

Civil Service Examination.

PORTLAND, May 20. A civil service examination was held at the Custom House to-day. Ten were examined for the weigher and gauger department and nine for the storekeeper department.

FROM BATH.

Republican Delegates Elected.

BATH, May 20. At the Republican caucus this evening seventeen of the leading business men of the city were chosen delegates to the State Convention. Resolutions were adopted unanimously, instructing the delegates to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of J. R. Bodwell as candidate for Governor. Delegates to the District Convention were instructed to vote for Nelson Dingley, Jr., for Representative to Congress.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Social Evil Legislation.

BOSTON, May 20. The Senate committee on judiciary gave a hearing this morning before a large audience as to legislation to raise the "age of consent." A proposed bill is in the hands of the committee raising the age to 18 years, and providing penalties of from three to five years' imprisonment for various grades of violation, with a thousand dollars fine for all cases. Judge Thomas Russell sent a letter to the committee, urging the great necessity of and ardently advocating such legislation.

Death of An Old Merchant.

George Carter Richardson, a leading merchant and honored citizen for the past fifty years, died early this morning of paralysis, aged 73. Mr. Richardson was the most venerable in years of the members of the great commission houses of this city, and his career has been identified with the growth of the manufacturing interests of New England.

Murdered His Son and Attempted Suicide.

SPRINGFIELD, May 20. Eugene S. Taylor, a farmer of Old Deerfield, murdered his two years old son with strychnine last night. He then attempted suicide with strychnine and by cutting his throat, but failed. He is under arrest.

Caught by the Cars and Seriously Injured.

EAST SOMERVILLE, May 20. W. J. Paris, one of the oldest freight conductors on the Boston and Maine railroad, was caught between two tanks here at the round house and badly injured by a passing train. It is thought he is injured internally. He was removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

A Verdict of Acquittal.

WORCESTER, May 20. The jury in the case of officer Murdock of Northbridge, charged with manslaughter in shooting Peter Morse, whom he arrested for drunkenness, returned a verdict this morning of not guilty.

Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

PLYMOUTH, May 20. At the afternoon session of the trial of Samuel F. Besse, for the murder of Richard N. Lawton, the arguments of the counsel were concluded. Besse was then asked if he wished to address the jury and he declined. Chief Justice Morton then charged the jury and the case was given them at 4.30. The jury returned in just twenty minutes with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Besse heard the verdict without any sign of emotion. The counsel for the defence having filed exceptions as to the drawing of the jurors, argument was made for a hearing on this question at the October term of the Supreme Court in Plymouth. The court then adjourned.

FORTY-NINTH CONGRESS.—1st Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 20. After the passage of several unimportant bills the Staten Island bridge bill was then laid before the Senate and Mr. McPherson resumed his speech against the bill.

Mr. McPherson read from engineer reports and other authorities to show the great injury that would result to the stream as a medium of commerce.

Mr. Frye said his predilections had been and were to-day in favor rather of the Pennsylvania than the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and rather in favor of New Jersey than New York, but after the careful and patient attention given to the subject by the Senate Committee Mr. Frye had been compelled by proofs of the wisdom and propriety of building the proposed bridge to yield his assent to the proposition. Of course any bridge at the point indicated would somewhat interfere with the water route, but the great advantage to the commerce of the whole country, especially the west, by the bridge, would more than amply compensate for the loss to commerce on the streams.

At 2 o'clock the bankruptcy bill was placed before the Senate and temporarily laid aside to permit a continuance of the discussion of the Staten Island bridge bill. After debate and the voting down of some amendments the bill was passed by a viva voce vote, as reported from the committee with the sole addition of Mr. Vest's amendment.

The bankruptcy bill was then laid before the Senate and at 6.10 P. M. the Senate adjourned.

House.

Mr. Holman of Indiana, from the Committe on Appropriations, reported the executive legislative and appropriation bill and it was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Breckenridge of Arkansas, from the Committee on Ways and Means, called up the bill providing that for a period of five years no mackerel, other than that known as Spanish mackerel, caught between the 1st of March and the 1st of June shall be imported or landed in the United States. He made a brief explanation of the bill and Mr. Hewitt of New York, stated his intention of speaking against it. The bill was postponed until to-morrow and the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Senate amendments to the post office appropriation bill.

The amendment setting apart $40,000 of the appropriation for free delivery system in cities where it is not now established was concurred in. The amendment was non-concurred in, which authorizes the Postmaster General to contract for inland and foreign steamboat service when it can be combined in one route; also the amendment increasing by $80,000 the appropriation for railway post office car. The amendment was concurred in increasing from $251,825 to $291,000 the appropriation for necessary and special facilities on trunk lines. The foreign mail service amendment having been reached Mr. Blount moved non-concurrence in it.

Mr. Burrows moved concurrence in the amendment with the following amendment thereto: Provided that not exceeding $400,000 of the amount herein appropriated shall be extended in payment of existing American steamship lines for transportation of foreign mails, according to schedules heretofore in force, and that so much of the balance as may be required shall be extended in increasing the frequency of postal service of such steamship lines and in the establishment of postal service by American built and registered steamships between the United States and such ports of foreign countries herein named not now connected with the United States by American steamship lines as the Postmaster-General may elect, including Buenos Ayres and Montevideo.

Mr. Burrows answered the objections made to the Senate amendment, which he said simply gave the Postmaster General the same discretion in regard to foreign service as he now possessed in regard to coastwise and star route service. All talk about paying $300,000 to the Pacific Mail Co., was made to alarm the members. How any gentleman could twist this provision into a subsidy he could not understand. The star route service could as well be called a subsidy.

Mr. McMillan of Tennessee, thought the appropriation was a subsidy in the broadest and boldest sense, and the question for the House to determine was whether it was ready to enter upon the policy of giving gratuities to steamship companies. When reduced to the last analysis this amendment was the entering wedge to a system which could work viciousness and corruption only. If it paid better to work on the ocean than on the land the people of the United States with their enterprise, energy and intelligence, would navigate the ocean.

Mr. Hewitt of New York, moved to strike out the appropriation of $800,000 and insert one of $400,000 and to add to the Senate amendment the following: "And the Postmaster General shall as far as possible, cause the mails of the United States to be carried to and from said places respectively in American built and registered steamships, provided the same can be carried for a reasonable compensation to be by him determined, but not exceeding the rate of 50 cents per nautical mile for the distance usually traveled in the most direct and feasible course between the terminal points hereafter specified."

Mr. Burrows' amendment was rejected 86 to 142, and Mr. Hewitt's was rejected 82 to 139. The Senate amendment was non-concurred in without a division and the committee rose and reported its action to the House. The recommendations of the committee were all agreed to without division, with the exception of the foreign mail service amendment which was non-concurred in by a vote of yeas 178, nays, 80.

The result was received with a round of cheers on the Democratic side. The Representatives from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont all voted with the minority. The bill and amendments will now be sent to the Senate and then go to a conference committee. The House at 4 o'clock adjourned.

CAST UP BY THE SEA.

A Relic of the Revolution.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., May 20. The ancient wreck reported as exhumed by the sea near Peak Hill Bars life station, is without doubt that of the Somerset, a British man-of-war of 64 guns. She took part in the battle of Bunker Hill, covering the landing of English soldiers at Charlestown. After the evacuation of Boston she went south but reappeared with other ships one day in Nov., 1778, chasing the French fleet, encountering a heavy northeast gale off Cape Cod. She was driven ashore a wreck.

Several of her crew of 480 men were drowned, but the larger part were captured by the Continental militia and were marched to Boston as prisoners of war. The ship was looted by the inhabitants of Provincetown and Truro and the guns and ammunition turned over to the Continental army. Relic hunters visit her daily for mementos and a large piece has been sent to Memorial Hall, Plymouth. Traces of her port holes are still visible, also a 22-feet draught mark on her massive stem.

SAD AND FATAL ACCIDENT.

Death of Mrs. George H. Pendleton.

NEW YORK, May 20. Mrs. Alice Pendleton, sixty-one years old, wife of ex-Governor Pendleton of Ohio, and the present Minister to Berlin, was thrown from her carriage while driving in Central Park this afternoon and received injuries from which she died soon after.

His Daughter Probably Fatally Injured.

Mrs. Pendleton was riding through the park with her daughter, Miss Jane Pendleton, when the horses suddenly bolted, throwing the driver from the box, but he escaped injury.

Both ladies then leaped from the carriage. Mrs. Pendleton was dead when picked up, her skull having been fractured. Miss Pendleton was picked up in an unconscious state and still remains in that condition, with small prospect of recovery.

FROM WASHINGTON.

News About the Capital.

The Naval Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 20. The House Committee on Naval Affairs to-day practically completed the naval appropriation bill and it will probably be reported to the House to-morrow. The bill appropriates about $11,750,000, while the estimates submitted by the Navy Department contemplated an expenditure of $30,836,357.

ALDERMAN JAEHNE SENTENCED.

Nine Years and Ten Months in State Prison—Exceptions Filed by Prisoners' Counsel.

NEW YORK, May 20. The court room was filled this morning by people anxious to hear Judge Barrett pronounce sentence upon Alderman Henry W. Jaehne who was convicted of bribery in connection with the Broadway railway franchise. Jaehne was in attendance guarded by a deputy sheriff. His face was pale and his eyes had a weary look. After the Judge had taken his seat the District Attorney moved for sentence to be passed upon the prisoner.

Gen. Pryor of Jaehne's counsel, made a motion for an arrest of judgment upon the following grounds: First, that the indictment was insufficient in substance; second, that the count in the indictment upon which the verdict was returned is insufficient to sustain the verdict; and third, that because in law there can be no judgment upon the indictment and verdict. Counsel moved for a new trial upon two grounds: first, misdirection of the jury in matters of law; and because the verdict was contrary to law and against evidence.

The motions were both denied by Judge Barrett. Counsel then took an exception to the denial of each motion. Jaehne then stood up for sentence and in reply to the final questions of the clerk gave his age as 36 years and his residence as 43 Vandam street. He said also that he had learned the jewelry trade. He was asked what he had to say why judgment should not be pronounced against him according to law. He made no reply, but kept his eyes fixed upon the rail in front of him.

Judge Barrett then sentenced the prisoner to nine years and ten months in the State prison. He said the prisoner had been convicted after a fair trial, that he had had every advantage that a defendant could have and an able counsel. He had the services of two of the most eminent members of the bar, one a veteran of the criminal bar noted for his power and force, and another, a gentleman of equal power and force, whose services were ever at the command of the poor, unfortunate and oppressed in this and other lands. It was a humiliating spectacle that a man who was selected to a public office in this city should have so heinously betrayed his trust as the prisoner had.

It was humiliating to the people of the city, State and county that such a spectacle should be presented in a free government as a person betraying his trust as the prisoner had. It was sad to see a man with the prisoner's advantages in the position in which he now was. "I could not be unmoved at the spectacle of your weeping wife and broken hearted mother, but the saddest thing of all about your case is the doubt which pervaded many good and honest minds of your conviction. There was not a doubt of your guilt. It was universally conceded when the evidence was in that the case against you was clear, convincing and overwhelming.

There was, however, a doubt of convicting you and the doubt arose because people had not sufficient faith in their common laws, because they feared that crime would in the end triumph over virtue. It was, too, a doubt of our jury system, of the zeal of our public prosecutor and of the fidelity of the detective branch of our police. Every good citizen should rejoice that all these doubts have been dispelled and the lesson it teaches is a good one. It teaches us to believe in the probity and fidelity of our police, in the efficiency and impartiality of our laws and in the greatness of our institutions.

You have only had faith in the supremacy of evil and in the impossibility of working out good results and you have fathered and sustained the very crime of which you have been found guilty. The faith you and those like you have endeavored to trample in the mud of corruption rises triumphant over you while you have fallen a disgraced and dishonored man. If ever there was a case where something like the maximum punishment of the law should be inflicted it is truly here."

Lawyer Newcomb on affidavits made by himself and Jaehne containing the legal points raised during the trial and the exceptions taken secured from Judge Daniels a temporary stay of proceedings and an order to show cause why the stay should not be made permanent pending an appeal. According to the remission made for good conduct Jaehne will actually have to serve only six years and four months if he goes to Sing Sing.

Jaehne Goes to Sing-Sing.

The application for a stay of execution of judgment in the Jaehne bribery case was argued before Judge Daniels in the Supreme Court this afternoon. The motion for a stay was denied and Jaehne will be taken to Sing-Sing in the morning.

THE ST. LOUIS TRUNK MURDER.

Maxwell's Trial Still in Progress.

ST. LOUIS, May 20. As the Maxwell case proceeds the interest in the prisoner and his probable fate increases. To-day spectators crowded the courtroom to the doors. The first witness was the barber, John B. Arno. Maxwell came to his shop on the evening of April 6th, 1885. His hair and beard were both very long and he asked to have the former trimmed and the latter shaved off. The barber did this and Maxwell then asked him if he could recognize him then if he had known him when his hair and beard were long. Witness told him that such a thing would be impossible and Maxwell seemed pleased at his answer. He talked a great deal, seemed very nervous and tried to avoid attention in the shop.

YALE COLLEGE.

Professor Dwight Unanimously Elected President.

NEW HAVEN, May 20. At the annual meeting of the corporation of Yale College to-day President Porter's formal letter of resignation was read. After expressions of regret by various members a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions of regret and report at the June meeting. Nominations for the Presidency were then made. The meeting was secret, but it is understood that the candidates were Prof. Dwight, Prof. Francis A. Walker, of Boston Institute of Technology, Prof. Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, and Prof. Brush, Director of Yale Scientific School. A number of ballots were taken without result, but on the final ballot Prof. Timothy Dwight, Professor of Sacred Literature in Yale Divinity School, was unanimously elected.

President Porter's Resignation.

President Porter in his letter of resignation gives as his reason for resigning his extreme age, which, he says, must soon have disqualified him for some of the duties of the office. He proposes, however, to retain the professorship of Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics to which he was elected in 1846. A committee appointed to wait on Prof. Dwight reported that he would accept the office of President.

A New Professorship Created.

The corporation then voted to create a new professorship of Semitic languages and chose Prof. Wm. R. Harper, of Morgan Park Theological Seminary, of Chicago, to that chair. Rev. George B. Stevens, D. D., a graduate of Yale Divinity School in 1880, and now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Watertown, N. Y., was appointed Professor of Sacred Literature to fill the chair now held by Prof. Dwight.

Prof. Dwight appeared before the corporation and formally accepted the office of President on condition that he be relieved of several minor duties connected with the office and he granted a vacation of six months within five years. An informal reception was held in the Library building this evening where the newly elected President received the congratulations of a large number of friends.

FOREIGN NEWS.

What Mr. Gladstone Says.

LONDON, May 20. Mr. Gladstone writes to a correspondent that it was only after the conservative government had announced its determination to adopt coercive measures that he entertained the idea of bringing forward the Irish policy apart from that of the government.

Cardinal Manning's Views.

Cardinal Manning writes that he is in favor of preserving inviolate imperial unity and the Imperial Parliament. He has always desired to see Ireland possess one of the largest powers of managing her own local and national affairs. He agrees with the aim of the present home rule bill but thinks that the measure needs extensive revision.

A Message from Her Majesty to Gladstone

General Sir Frederick Ponsonby, the Queen's Private Secretary, delivered to Gladstone to-day, a long message from Her Majesty.

Relating to the Home Rule Bill.

Mr. Chamberlain will not participate in the home rule debate until next week. Mr. Schnodhorst visited Gladstone yesterday and had a long conversation with him on the subject of the Irish bills. The radical dissidents propose as a basis for negotiations the withdrawal of the home rule measure and the substitution of a resolution in favor of granting autonomy to Ireland, subject to conditions embraced in the manifesto issued by Gladstone last autumn.

The Daily News says it is Mr. Bright's present intention not to take part in the home rule debate.

The President to the Sultan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 19. United States Minister Cox to-day had a three hours' interview with the Sultan. The American minister presented to His Majesty gifts sent by President Cleveland, consisting of a thousand views of scenery in the different parts of the United States, a portrait of celebrated and typical Indians, copies of the last census reports, etc. The Sultan was well pleased with the presents and requested Mr. Cox to thank President Cleveland for his unique and valuable gifts.

Mount Etna in Eruption.

CATANIA, Sicily, May 20. The eruption of Mount Etna is increasing in proportions and there is serious danger to the town of Monterosso from the flow of lava. Measures are being taken for the rescue of the inhabitants. Vast columns of flame are issuing from the crater of the volcano and present a most imposing spectacle.

All of the delegates to the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias left for home on last evening's train.

The schooner New Packet arrived here yesterday with a cargo of superphosphates for E. B. Dunning.

A new post office is reported at West Hollis, York County, with Horace B. Benson as postmaster.

There will be no sessions of the City Schools on Monday, May 31st to be observed as Memorial Day.

A large number of sportsmen will come down from Moosehead Lake on the train to-day and go west to-night.

Public meeting of the Crusade this evening. All are cordially invited. Held in the reading room, Franklin street.

Fishing parties are having great luck at Katahdin Iron Works, so we are informed. Some very large trout have been taken.

The first Mattawamkeag drive passed Lincoln Centre yesterday afternoon and was expected to reach Mattamiscontis last night.

At St. John's Episcopal church Sunday the subject of Rev. Dr. Fiske's discourse will be "A Parish, review and review of the present Rectorship."

The travel to Bar Harbor has commenced this week. Numerous parties owning cottages there have gone down to occupy them for the season.

The repairs on the steam tug Walter Ross at Stetson's yard are now approaching completion. An almost entirely new top has been placed upon the boat.

The largest school in the city with the exception of the High School is the Union street Primary, Miss Davenport, Principal. The attendance here is 103, and the teachers are kept busy.

The members of Daniel Chaplin Camp, Sons of Veterans have accepted an invitation to participate in the Memorial Day exercises. The Camp is to have a street drill this evening.

The schooner Oscar C. Schmidt cleared for Philadelphia yesterday with a full cargo of ice from the Union Ice Company. This was the first shipment of ice ever made by the company.

Ernest Pratt the boy who ran away from his home in Sebec about two weeks ago and came to this city, has not yet been found or heard from and it is probable that he shipped on board a vessel.

There was a smart shower here yesterday afternoon but it was not nearly as severe as was experienced farther west. At Moosehead Lake there was a slight shower in the forenoon, but the afternoon was clear.

One of the Maine Central construction trains will be kept constantly at work all summer gravelling the main line east of this city. It is now engaged near Enfield and a crew of thirty men is employed upon it.

Some twenty five or more girls from Prince Edward Island arrived in this city on the train from the east yesterday morning and went to Bar Harbor, where they will act as servants in the hotels during the summer.

Freight from the west is running very heavily over the Maine Central at present. Conductor Clement's train from Waterville yesterday noon brought in forty-three cars, while on Wednesday afternoon's fast freight there were forty cars.

The rifle range located yesterday near Maplewood Park for the use of the militia at the coming muster, was pronounced by the officers present to be a very good one. It is a five hundred yards' range, the target being placed near the woods on the City Farm.

The catalogue and the premium list for the coming great New England Fair in this city has been made up and will go to the printer to-day. There has been a large increase in premiums over last year's figures and every preparation is now being made for the grand success of the exhibition.

Mr. Edward Stetson landed a magnificent salmon at the dam yesterday forenoon. The fish weighed a little more than twenty pounds and was one of the finest specimens seen here this season. Mr. Stetson played him an hour and ten minutes before he was able to land him.

A little three years old daughter of Mr. Ed Prescott, at Katahdin Iron Works, ran in from her play the other day to wash her hands at [illegible]. In some way she fell into a pail of hot water and died from her burns the next day. Her suffering was not great as she seemed partially paralyzed after the accident.

The First Parish church will probably be well filled to-night to hear Mr. G. W. Leitch, a returned missionary from Ceylon, lecture on the "Life, Habits and Religion of the Hindoos of India and Ceylon." The address will be illustrated by the stereopticon, showing seventy-five or eighty views, sixteen feet square, and will commence at 7.30.

A prominent Bangor lumberman expressed the opinion yesterday that all of the West Branch logs would reach the boom except Burke & Cassidy's, which have been hung up on Elm Stream. Some doubt as to whether or not John Ross would be able to get his Scott Brook logs has been expressed, but they will probably come along all right.

Messrs. Campbell & Higgins, the new firm in the fruit, produce and commission business on Broad street, have received a fine line of goods such as fruit and green stuff. They are the first dealers in the city to receive green peas and cabbages and some of the handsomest strawberries seen here thus far this season were displayed at their store last night.

The young people in Frankfort are to give a pleasing entertainment this evening for which arrangements have been in progress for some time. Two farces, "A Race for a Widow" and "Sarah's Young Man," will be presented by good talent and Miss Treat will render several solos. The affair will conclude with a social dance, music being furnished by Harriman's orchestra.

THE WOOLEN MANUFACTURERS. In response to a call a meeting of the woolen manufacturers of eastern Maine was held in Boston Wednesday evening, at which in person or by letter there was a full representation. It was decided to form a club to be called the Penobscot Club, and a committee of three was chosen to prepare a list of officers, constitution and by-laws, to report the same at an early date at such time and place as the committee may choose. The purposes for which the organization is to be formed are to cultivate social intercourse, to promote good understanding and united action on affairs of general interest to this industry in the State.

Tracy & Love have hung up their logs on the Wassataquoick, so we are told, and their men came down to Mattawamkeag Wednesday morning. Numerous Bangor men were interested in this drive and the "hanging up" will be much regretted by them. A Province man at work on the drive was drowned Sunday morning and his body was not recovered. We were unable to learn his name.

A large coal fleet arrived in port yesterday morning and yesterday all along the wharves the stevedores were busily at work discharging the cargoes and business seemed brisk. The Electa Bailey brought 407 and the George and Albert 390 tons for Hinckss & Co. The Avon had 205 and the William Lutman 187 tons for Bacon, Robinson & Co. The John Paine had 278 tons for T. G. Stickney and the Lizzie Cochrane 301 tons for E. & I. K. Stetson.

Major R. H. Hendershot, the celebrated drummer, appeared in Ellsworth Wednesday evening before a large and most enthusiastic audience. Major Hendershot was in the city last evening and spoke in the highest terms of the ladies of the Relief Corps in Ellsworth for preparing so fine an entertainment. He left for Calais last night where he appears to-night and to-morrow night. His coming engagements in Maine are at Rockland, Rockport, Belfast, Hampden and other places.

The Maine State College Chapter of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity has leased for a term of years the house recently occupied by Prof. A. E. Rogers. It is situated on the college grounds very near the dormitories. The house is large, commands a beautiful view and the surrounding grounds are the handsomest included in the college property. It is in every way admirably fitted for a society building and the members of the organization were very fortunate in being able to secure it.

Hon. Dustin Lancey of Boston, and Mr. E. F. Staples of Stockton, two of the stockholders in the new Fort Point company, together with Mr. F. R. Going, one of the new proprietors of the Fort Point House, were at the Windsor Hotel yesterday. All of these gentlemen speak in the most enthusiastic terms of Fort Point's prospects as a summer resort the coming season. Mr. Going is much pleased with the house and says that its location is the most charming of any summer hotel that he has ever seen.

THE WEEKLY COURIER, issued this morning, will be found to be a newsy number for in addition to the usual telegraphic, local, State and agricultural news will be found an account of the seizure of American vessels in British ports, a full account of the annual meeting of the Knights of Pythias in this city, incidents connected with the western cyclones, semi-annual meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in this city, letters from our correspondents in various sections and a large amount of miscellaneous reading. Copies in wrappers at our office.

MORE TUBERCULOSIS. Veterinary Surgeon George H. Bailey and Hon. Z. A. Gilbert of the Board of State Cattle Commissioners, went to North Waterboro Wednesday morning, where tuberculosis had appeared among the cattle of J. B. Scribner. The disease came from a cow purchased in Shapleigh last year which died in April. The authorities found thirteen animals showing symptoms of the disease. They killed a cow and calf and quarantined the rest of the herd. This case following so soon after that at the Maine State College will offer more strong evidence against the very foolish ideas which have been advanced in regard to the disease being caused by overfeeding.

A BAD RUNAWAY. A severe accident occurred at the Maine Central depot yesterday afternoon. An old gentleman named John Parker, living in Hampden, about four miles from this city, was near the baggage room with a team. The sound of steam escaping from a locomotive started the horse and the animal ran away, striking a terrific pace. The wagon collided with the standing water pipe near Dole & Fogg's office and Mr. Parker was thrown out, striking upon his face and head and receiving terrible cuts and bruises. He was carried into the restaurant where his wounds were dressed by a physician and he was then taken home. The wagon was badly damaged during the affair.

BASE BALL NOTES. The M. S. C. nine leaves Orono for Brunswick this morning where they play the Bowdoins at three o'clock this afternoon. To-night the team goes to Lewiston and to-morrow forenoon at half past ten the first M. S. C.-Bates game will be called. As the former team has no change battery they will no doubt be weakened in the game to-morrow, but ought to make a good showing.——The directors of the Bangor association meet late this afternoon to decide definitely upon the players whom they will ask to sign with our home club for the coming summer. The men will then be addressed by letter and it is expected that in a few days the names of a sufficient number of players who have signed can be announced.

THE MAINE MEDICAL SCHOOL. We have received the annual catalogue for 1886 of the Maine Medical school at Brunswick. There are about eighty students in the school at present, thirty being in the first class, which is a much larger number than usual. Among the students from this section named in the catalogue are G. H. Bean and A. W. Rowe, Old Town; A. H. Harding, Hermon; M. O'Halloran, Winn; F. S. Packard, Foxcroft; A. A. Page, Orland; M. J. Parker, Hampden; H. B. Royal, Foxcroft; C. N. Severance, Orrington; H. E. Snow, Bucksport and G. W. W. Whiting, Carmel.——Dr. A. G. Young of Augusta, Secretary of the Maine Board of Health, is about to give a series of lectures before the students on "Public Health and Hygiene."——Dr. E. T. Nealey of this city, is giving a series of lectures on medicine at the school.

BUSY BEE ENTERTAINMENT. Notwithstanding the damp and threatening weather a large audience assembled last evening in the vestry of the Essex street church to greet the "Busy Bees" in their second entertainment. The following programme was presented: Piano duett, Misses Clayton and Parker; drumming, Walter Mills; recitation, Alma Tyler; song, Mary Sawyer; recitation, "The Dressed Turkey," George Johnston; harmonica and banjo solo combined, Mr. Page; "A Little Girl's Speech," Maud Darling; sequel, Grace Buzzell; clappers, Gertie Veazie; recitation, "Little Pilgrim Sandals," Gertie Pierce; song, Miss Eaton; guitar, Miss Ware; ballad, Mr. Morrison; reading, Nellie Emery; whistling, Alice Flinders; recitation, "The Old Fashioned Girl," Winnie French; recitation, "The Minister's Sermon," Jere Pitcher; clappers, Gertie Veazie; dialogue; singing, Lulu Haynes; recitation, "The Dead Doll," Edna Collamore; harmonica and piano duett, Messrs. Page and Morrison; song, "America," "Busy Bee Band." No criticism can be given unless it be upon the number of encores which showed the appreciation of the audience. The "Busy Bees" are sure of a good audience at their gatherings.

While Judson B. Winslow was preparing a blast, Monday, in R. W. Messer's quarry, in Rockland, the fuse ignited in some way, and Winslow was thrown down and badly hurt by the flying rock, besides having a hand and arm severely cut.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

Delegates to the State and District Conventions Elected—A Solid Delegation for Boutelle and Hamlin.

Republican caucuses were held last evening at the polling places in the different wards, and the following delegates to the State and District Conventions were elected:

WARD ONE.

District Convention—John L. Cutler, Thomas G. Stickney, Henry Rollins, Archibald L. Boyd.

State Convention—Charles G. Sterns, Frank H. Clergue, Charles E. Field, Otis D. Maddocks.

District Convention—Benjamin B. Thatcher, Rufus P. Peaks, Edwin N. Egery, John F. Colby.

State Convention—James H. Bowler, William Z. Clayton, James W. Donigan, George M. Fletcher.

DELEGATES AT LARGE.

The delegates elected in the different wards met at City Hall at half-past eight o'clock and chose James A. Boardman and Lester Dwinel delegates at large to the District Convention, and Hon. Edward B. Nealley and Joab W. Palmer, Esq., delegates at large to the State Convention. The District delegates are unanimous for the renomination of Hon. C. A. Boutelle for Representative to Congress, and the State delegation passed the following resolution by a rising vote:

Resolved, That the nomination of Governor justly belongs to the eastern part of the State and that we will present as our candidate, Dr. A. C. Hamlin, of Bangor.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Closing Sessions of the Grand Lodge in this City—The Pythian Relief Association.

At nine o'clock yesterday morning a meeting of the Maine State Pythian Relief Association was held at Pythian Hall. In the absence of President H. C. Peabody, of Portland, L. A. Barker of this city, presided. Secretary Chute's report was submitted and from it we make the following extracts:

MEMBERSHIP.

Members May 20, 1885,	1,050
Admitted to membership since,	280
	1,330

FINANCES.

Amount in hands of Secretary May 20, 1885,	$723 97
Received for 280 applications,	840 00
Received on assessments,	8,155 00
	$9,718 97
Amount paid treasurer,	9,718 97

The expenses for the past two years were crowded into 1885-6, thus making the figures this year double the usual amount. Orders have been drawn as follows: On account of last year's expenses, $733.15; on account of this year's expenses $1,001.71; on account of benefits, $6,065.87. The adoption of a new form and more tasty certificate of membership and changes in the by-laws were recommended in order to accommodate the increasing membership of the association, but no action was taken. The Treasurer's report shows the summary of cash received on benefit and expense account as $5,110.04; cash on advance payments, $5,396.05; Maine Savings Bank, $1,455.93; Portland Savings Bank, $1,536.75; Portland Trust Company, $2,376.38; total, $5,369.05.

After the reports the following old board of officers was re-elected for the ensuing year: President, H. C. Peabody, Portland; Treasurer, S. L. Larrabee, Portland; Secretary, J. F. Chute, Portland; Finance Committee, W. H. Rowe, Freedom Nash, Portland, L. A. Barker, Bangor. The association then adjourned to meet at Portland next Thursday evening when it is expected that there will be a large attendance and the recommendations of the reports will be acted upon.

THE GRAND LODGE SESSION.

The closing session of the Grand Lodge was called to order at ten o'clock by Grand Chancellor Stevens. A large amount of routine business was transacted which was not of interest to the general public. Questions of jurisdiction came up and were referred to the proper committees. The mileage for the members in attendance was computed to be $325. The Grand Chancellor referred in very feeling terms to the absence of the Senior Past Grand Chancellor R. H. Ingersoll of Biddeford, on account of illness. Mr. Ingersoll is really the father of the Order in Maine and is much beloved and respected by the members. The Grand Lodge voted to send a telegram of sympathy to Mr. Ingersoll and the following was sent.

Bangor, May 20th.

To Richard H. Ingersoll, Biddeford, Maine:

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Maine, now in session, extends to its senior Past Grand Chancellor this expression of its sympathy in his illness and regret at this, his first absence from its sessions.

M. L. STEVENS,
Grand Chancellor.

A general discussion in regard to various laws of the Order next occurred, but no definite action was taken. The bonds of the officers-elect were presented and accepted and they were then installed by Past Grand Chancellor Lewis A. Barker. Very appropriate remarks were made by the new Grand Chancellor, E. C. Farrington.

A resolution extending thanks to the members of Norombega and Condeskeag Lodges of this city for courtesies extended was passed, as was also one recognizing the able and impartial manner in which Grand Chancellor Stevens has presided over the proceedings of the sessions. The members all spoke in the highest terms of their reception and entertainment here. The Grand Lodge then adjourned to meet at Gardiner the third Wednesday in May, 1887.

AMUSEMENTS.

Viola, the Street Singer.

A fair audience witnessed the presentation of Viola, the Street Singer, by Miss Akerstrom and her company at the Opera House last evening. The piece was written by Miss Akerstrom and is quite a meritorious production. In the leading role last evening she appeared to the same good advantage as in her previous dramas. Applause was frequent and a well satisfied audience left the house at the close. This evening the pleasing "Pygmalion and Galatea" and the company at the low prices should draw a very large audience.

Police Court.

Thursday, May 20th.

Annie Moran, of Bangor, for drunkenness, was sentenced to thirty days in the House of Correction.

James Carrier, Bangor, drunkenness, thirty days in jail.

Edgar Ware, Boston, professional tramp, was fined twenty dollars and costs. Committed.

Our Own Folks and Other Folks.

Mr. T. J. Stewart left for Boston on the train last evening.

Hon. James G. Blaine and wife passed through this city last evening on their way to Bar Harbor.

Mr. G. F. Black, one of the Maine State College Seniors, intends to take a post graduate course at Cornell.

Hon. T. C. Woodman, of Bucksport, who is so seriously ill in Dover, N. H., will probably be removed to his home to-morrow.

Road Master Wagg and Bridge Builder Booker, of the Maine Central, and Mr E. H. Greeley, of Bar Harbor, were at the Bangor House last night.

Conductor Henry A. Whitney, of the Maine Central, has been off duty for a few days and Conductor F. A. McIntire has been running his train.

George R. Lancaster, Esq., and wife, of this city, who have been making a very pleasant visit in California, are expected home to-day or to-morrow.

Mr. W. C. Tallman, New England agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, and Mr. Nicholas J. Grace, his travelling agent, were at the Bangor House last evening.

Mr. Albert Files has been called to Deering by the death of his brother-in-law, Trueman Harmon, Esq., who for eight years was the collector of the port of Belfast.

Major J. W. Berry, E. W. Morrell, and editor of the Home Journal and Mr. W. J. Landers, of the Kennebec Reporter, all of Gardiner, attended the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias in this city.

Mr. W. S. Condell, Travelling Passenger Agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and Mr. Charles McPherson, of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railways, were in the city yesterday.

Hon. H. C. Peabody, Judge of the Probate Court, Portland, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Peabody is a Past Grand Chancellor of the Grand Lodge of Maine Knights of Pythias, has been Supreme Representative and is therefore a permanent member.

Mr. J. F. Chute of Portland, the Grand Keeper of Records and Seals of the Knights of Pythias of Maine, is considered one of the best officers in that position in the United States. He is extremely popular with the members and wherever he goes makes hosts of outside friends. During his numerous visits to Bangor Mr. Chute has made many acquaintances by whom he is highly esteemed and who unite in the wish that his trips here in his official capacity will long continue.

General Secretaries' Conference.

The Y. M. C. A. General Secretaries' annual conference will be held at Harrisburg, Pa., June 1—6, inclusive, and promises to be a most profitable gathering. The Secretaries from all over the United States and Canada will be in attendance. By special act of Legislature last year, the House of Representatives was granted for the use of the conference. The capitol building is situated in a beautiful park right in the heart of the city, yet away from the noise and bustle of the streets. Each Secretary will have the use of a desk and every convenience he may desire. The conference is always practical and conducted in a business-like manner, topics of vital importance to Association work are carefully considered.

Mr. J. A. Gauld, General Secretary of the Bangor Association for the past three years, who resigned some weeks ago, having completed arrangements, will leave this city on Friday morning, 28th inst., for Harrisburg, and will not return to Bangor. He will remain in Harrisburg until June 8th to attend a special conference of prominent Association men to consider the requirements of State and International interests connected with the work. Mr. Gauld's future field of labor will not be decided until after the conference, he desiring to spend several weeks in recreation and travel prior to his re-entering on the work.

Horse Notes.

Mr. Benjamin F. Adams of this city, has some of the finest horses to be found anywhere in this section. Three colts in his stable on State street stand in stalls near their mother, the mare Heloise. A three year old colt was sired by General Withers a two year old by Von Moltke, while the yearling, a handsome animal with a promising gait, is after the famous Wedgewood with a record of 2.19. No breeder in Maine owns three better colts of the same ages, so the horsemen say.

Parties from Boston, and Saco have lately visited Garland and purchased three colts and the prices in each case were paid to the farmers who bred and raised the animals. One four-year old mare was raised by Thomas Packard of Garland, and sold for $225. One four years old gelding raised by E. Burnham of Garland, sold for $300. One five years old gelding raised by C. Wentworth of Stetson, sold for $500. The above were all sired by Lothair, Jr., owned by F. T. Fogg of Garland.

Major George E. Dole of this city has a mare which has developed into a fast trotter this season. She is bay in color, weighs about 1,050 pounds and stands sixteen hands high. She was sired by Pequod by Gideon and her dam was of Messenger stock. Some time since she commenced to show considerable speed and she was placed under the training of Mr. Thomas McAloon and can now trot a mile in less 2.35. She will probably be entered in some of the races at the New England Fair this fall.

Mr. Lyman W. Stevens, who is at the Windsor Hotel stables with some splendid driving horses, sold some fine ones yesterday. Three, including a handsome matched pair, became the property of a Mr. Hardy of Bar Harbor, and one was purchased by J. W. Davis of Ellsworth. The prices in each sale were quite large.

The Mysterious Forgery.

It was a bleak October morning, and Mr. Walter Crump, cashier to the firm of Messrs. Livesey & Mason, quickened his pace as he made his way along Throgmorton street, to the scene of his daily toil. It was not that he feared to be late that Mr. Crump was walking fast. During all the forty years that he had sat upon a high stool from ten to five Mr. Crump had never been known to be late for his work. A more methodical, careful man never hung over a ledger or balanced a cash book.

At length he reached the well-known staircase, opened the office door, and stood still for a moment in suprise. Young Carter, the assistant bookkeeer, was there before him already at his work. Mr. Crump smiled grimly.

"So you've made a beginning, young man," he said. Well, we'll see."

Carter's face flushed a little as he bade the older man good-morning. The fact was that Crump, who had married rather late in life, had a bright-eyed daughter named Annie, with whom Robert Carter had fallen very much in love. It was only on the preceding evening that things had come to a crisis, and, somewhat to the young man's surprise, Mr. Crump had rejected the proposed engagement. He did not like young Carter. He did not approve of the young man's fashionably cut collars, nor of his scarf pin, nor of his cane. Such things Mr. Crump considered were the signs of a frivolous disposition and unsteady habits. Nor did Mr. Crump approve of the snatches of comic songs which Carter was continually humming. He suspected that the young man frequented music halls, and spent more money on cheap cigars, novels, and outings than was proper for one in his position. Besides, Mr. Robert Carter was usually the last of all the clerks to make his appearance in the morning, and this was, in Mr. Crump's eyes, a very bad sign. It was plain to the old man, that Carter was now making an attempt to earn his good opinion.

"Time will show—time will show," said Mr. Crump, in rather an aggravating way, as he changed his coat, opened his safe, and set about his work.

Soon the other clerks began to arrive, and then came Mr. Mason, the acting partner, a tall, pale man, with long black whiskers. Mr. Livesey, the senior partner, only came to the office twice a week, to examine the bank book and see how things were going on. Mr. Mason opened the letters, and appeared at Mr. Crump's desk with a small sheaf of them in his hand. These were letters in response to which small sums of money had to be sent, and it belonged to Mr. Crump to attend to them, for he had authority to sign checks for the firm for sums up to five pounds.

Mr. Crump first made a list of the payments he had to make and then went to his safe for his check book. As he opened it to write the first check he was surprised to find that the counterfoil belonging to the last check which had been taken from the book was not filled up. He could hardly believe his eyes. Never in all his life had he written a check without first filling up the counterfoil with particulars of the amount, the date, and the person to whom the check was sent. But his surprise changed to dismay when he took out his cash book and found that he had only drawn nine checks the day before, the counterfoils of which were all properly filled up, whereas a tenth check had been torn out of the book.

For a moment, he sat, as if stunned. Could any one have stolen the blank check? He always kept the key of his safe on his own bunch; but it was just possible that some one might have got hold of the key, taken an impression of it in wax, and had a false key made. He had heard of such things. He leaned his head on his hands and tried to think. When had he closed the safe last night? About four in the afternoon, before any one had left the office for the day; for he remembered that he had been sent to the docks about four o'clock with some documents for a ship that was about to sail, and when he got back at half-past six everybody had left, and the place was in darkness.

If the blank check had been stolen, the theft must have been committed last night—or this morning? Could the safe have been opened before his arrival? He remembered Carter's unusually early appearance, and threw a suspicious glance at the young man.

Then a simpler solution of the matter occurred to him. It was very possible that, in tearing out the last check he had drawn up the day before, he had torn out two by mistake, folded them up, and sent them off together. This would, of course account for the appearance of the check book. He determined to write at once to Marshall & Company, merchants in Liverpool, to whom he had sent his last check, and ask whether a blank check had been sent to them by mistake.

Then the question arose—should he mention the circumstance to Mr. Mason? On consideration Mr. Crump thought that it was not necessary to do so. Mr. Mason was rather a hard man to deal with, and a confession would ruin the character for carefulness which the cashier had so long enjoyed. And he fully expected that in two days at most he would get a letter from Liverpool enclosing the slip of paper which had cost him so much anxiety.

The next day was a Tuesday; and according to his invariable custom on that day of the week, Mr. Livesey made his appearance in the office. Business had not long commenced when everybody in the establishment was aware that something unusual had happened. Mr. Mason was closeted with his partner for a few minutes, and then went hurriedly out of the office, returning shortly afterward with Mr. Jeffreys, the manager of the London and Lancashire Bank, at which the firm kept their account.

Then Mr. Jeffreys left, and came back accompanied by one of his cashiers. Then a bell was rung and Mr. Crump was sent for.

With a beating heart and a cold sweat on his brow the cashier obeyed the summons.

"Bring your check book Mr. Crump," said the senior partner.

This was done, and a tall man, whom Mr. Crump had not noticed up to that time, stepped up to the table and glanced at the check-book along with Mr. Livesey.

"I thought so," exclaimed the old gentleman. "Here's the place from which the check was taken. Here is the counterfoil. The numbers correspond. What made you do it, Crump? You are the last man in the world from whom I would have expected such conduct."

"Do what, sir?" faintly uttered Mr. Crump.

"Do what!" echoed his employer with a contemptuous smile. "Who did you get to do this little bit of work for you?"

As he spoke, Mr. Livesey tossed a check across the table. Mr. Crump took it up and read, "The London and Lancashire Bank. Pay Jos. Beckman, Esq., or order, three thousand one hundred and seventy-two pounds fifteen shillings. Livesey and Mason."

He looked up bewildered. The tall man in the frock-coat watched him narrowly.

"Who is this Beckman?" asked Mr. Livesey.

"I don't know, sir."

"You don't know? You see the check has come from your book?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you give it to any one?"

"No, sir."

"Did you miss it?"

"Yes, sir. I missed it yesterday; and I wrote to Messrs. Marshall, to whom I had sent the one before that, thinking that I had torn out two by mistake."

"That rather points to his innocence," whispered Mr. Livesey to the tall man at his elbow.

"It may be only a clever plant, sir," returned the other.

"You did not put that letter among the others to be copied in the letter-book," put in Mr. Mason.

Crump hung his head.

"Is the check—" he began, after a pause.

"Of course it is forged," answered Mr. Livesey.

"And was it paid?"

"Yes, it was paid yesterday."

Mr. Crump shuddered, took a long breath, and waited.

"Now, Crump, you had better make a clean breast of it," said Mr. Livesey after a few moments' silence. "Tell us who this man Beckman is; tell us where the money has gone—it can't be all spent already—and it will be none the worse for you."

Mr. Crump felt a choking sensation in his throat; but he plucked up courage to

"I thought I had torn it out myself, along with the one I sent to Mr. Marshall."

"But it may have been torn out by any one in the office the day before?"

"Yes, sir," replied Crump. "I don't see how any one could have got at the book, for I am very careful; but it is possible."

"The thief has probably got a professional forger to copy the signature from an old letter," said Mr. Mason taking up the slip of paper. "It is beautifully imitated. I would not have detected it myself."

"It is plain that the thief must have been some one in the office, though probably he had an accomplice outside," said Mr. Jeffreys. "A stranger would not have known that the firm had so large a balance at the moment. Is there any one of your fellow clerks whom you think may have had a hand in it?" he added, turning to the cashier.

"No, sir."

"Is there any one who keeps loose company, or any one who is in the habit of spending too much money?"

Mr. Crump thought of Carter, and hesitated a moment.

"Speak, sir if you are wise," said Mr. Livesey, sternly.

"I have sometimes thought that Mr. Carter spent a good deal on dress, and so on; but not more than many young men," replied Mr. Crump. But as he spoke he suddenly remembered Robert Carter's unusually early appearance on the preceding morning, and a suspicion arose in his mind. Without intending it he allowed his thoughts to appear in his face, so that his protest—'I know nothing whatever against Mr. Carter'—had but little effect.

Crump was sent back to his desk, and Carter was sent for. He came back to the clerk's room in a state of indignation, having strenuously denied any knowledge whatever of the forgery. The result of a consultation between the bank manager and the partners was that, as Crump could not account for the loss of the check, he had probably stolen it; and that, although there was not evidence enough to prosecute him, he must be dismissed at once. As to Carter, they determined to allow him to remain where he was, and keep a close watch on his proceedings.

Poor Walter Crump went home that day like one in a dream. He was dismissed as the accomplice of a forger! And he could not say that, in the circumstances, he had been treated unjustly. The check had been entrusted to him, and he had lost it. It was, apparently, at least, his fault that the crime had been committed. He almost wondered that he had not been sent to prison.

When he reached his own house he sat down in front of the fire without speaking, and even his favorite daughter, Annie, could not make him say what troubled him. How could he tell his children that he, their father, had been dismissed from his situation on suspicion of having robbed his employers of £3 000?

About eight o'clock in the evening a knock came to the old man's door. It was Robert Carter. Crump started to his feet in indignation. Was this fellow, whom he suspected to be the real criminal, to come and gloat over him in his misery?

[To be concluded.]

The Carrier-Pigeon.

In the May Century is a profusely illustrated article on "The Breeding of Fancy Pigeons." From it we quote the following on the most quarrelsome and savage of the pigeon family: "The carrier, the acknowledged king of pigeons, has in its name the source of a great annoyance to its sensitive fancier. He admits for it an ancestry dating back to the message-bearers of Persian kings and Turkish sultans, and that the peculiarities of structure—the prominent wing-butts, the great muscular development which gives the full-rounded breast, the wing best adapted to speedy and long-continued flight, and the protruding eyeball peculiar to the traveling bird, all points he values for their part in the perfect symmetry—that these were all fixed in its day of usefulness as the courier of royalty. But he is careful to explain that he has counted out all useful qualities and practical values in the bird of to-day; that the points he values highest are those of development of growth, to perfect which his bird is carefully secluded from the deteriorating influences of sun and outdoor air; that the name is only applicable to it for its elegant carriage, one of its most valued and to be remarked properties; that it is only the ignorant who could confound the grand high-class bird with that little shapeless message-bearer, the homing pigeon.

"The carrier has always been held in the highest esteem in England. Moore, writing in 1735, tells of a fancier in Bishopgate street, who kept a silver hatchet and block with which to chop off the heads of those condemned to death, 'that being of the blood royal they ought not to die after the manner of the common herd.'"

The Use of Cement Pipe for Sewers.

The following veto was filed with City Clerk Gerry yesterday afternoon:

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Utica:

The following action of your honorable body Friday evening, April 2, 1886, is hereby returned without my approval. (Here is given at length the resolution adopted by the Council providing for a cement sewer in Albany street.)

The sewerage of our city is a very important matter, both from a sanitary and financial standpoint.

Our City Surveyor, who is thoroughly competent to judge, has recommended vitrified sewer pipe as the cheapest, safest and best. Since this question was brought before the Council I have received over thirty letters from surveyors and engineers of different cities unanimously testifying to the superiority of this pipe, and stating that it is now universally used throughout the country.

Then why does the Council insist on putting down cement?

Some Aldermen say the people petition for it—there is some force in that I admit—but are they the only parties interested in this matter? When the sewers prove defective (as they are doing continually) the city, and not the people must foot the bills.

And are we to pay any attention to the wail that was dinned into our ears last fall about the sewer gas in the cellars and houses of our citizens? I think we should. If these evils are to be remedied the city should have a voice in the choice of pipe, and I claim should accept the advice of its Surveyor as having had the most experience in such matters.

The only real argument that has been or can be made in favor of the cement pipe we are now using is that it is manufactured here, and a prominent official is interested in its sale.

It seems to me this is not forcible enough to justify jeopardizing the lives of our citizens through defective sewerage, and the depletion of their pockets in trying to maintain a system with inferior pipe. This is too expensive and dangerous a monopoly for this Council to encourage or maintain.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

VEGETINE THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

Never fails to relieve Languor and Want of Vitality, which few escape at this season. An impoverished condition of the blood is the prime cause of the trouble, and the use of this reliable purifier early in Spring should not be omitted. Take Vegetine now and you successfully counteract the effects of Malaria upon the system. Humors of a Cancerous or Scrofulous nature are most troublesome now, and no other remedy has such power to eradicate them. Should the blood impurity develop an Eruption of the Skin, nothing will so effectually remove it as Vegetine. There is no diseased condition of the system caused by an impure state of the blood that is not benefited by its use. As a tonic for convalescents, ladies in delicate health and old people it is unsurpassed.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Edwin D. Morton, late of Newburgh in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her power to sell by license at public or private sale, and convey the whole of the following described real estate of the deceased (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein), as the residue would be greatly depreciated by a sale of any portion, viz:

A certain lot or parcel of land situated in said Newburgh and bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at the northwest corner of a lot of land in possession of F. O. Rogers; thence southerly to land of Augustus Baker, on the west line of Rogers' lot; thence westerly one-half the distance across lot No. forty-five, according to Gilman's plan of Newburgh; thence northerly through the centre of said lot to the County road; thence easterly on the south line of said County road to the place of beginning; it being the east half of said lot forty-five, and containing forty-five acres more or less, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

Said real estate is the same described in deed recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County, Vol. 541 page 463.

April 27, 1886. MATILDA S. MORTON.

STATE OF MAINE.

Penobscot, ss.—Court of Probate, April Term, A. D. 1886.

Upon the foregoing petition, Ordered, that said petitioner give public notice to all persons interested, by causing a copy of the petition, and this order thereon, to be published three weeks successively in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier, a newspaper published in Bangor, in said County, that they may appear at a Court of Probate for said County, to be held at the Probate Office in said Bangor, on the last Tuesday in May next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, Trustees under the will of William C. Hammatt, late of Howland, in said County, deceased, respectfully represent that it would be most for the interest of the cestuis que trust and all concerned therein,

Wherefore your petitioners pray your Honor to grant them a license to sell, at private sale, and convey two-fifths (2/5) in common and undivided of all that part of lot numbered twenty-one (21) on the Piscataquis river, according to [illegible] plan recorded in Penobscot Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 1, page 122, which lies southerly of the continuation westerly of the division line between lots numbered five (5) and six (6) on the Penobscot river, according to said plan. Also all the right, title and interest now vested in them by virtue of said trust, in and to all that part of said lot numbered twenty-one (21) which lies northerly of said continuation of said division line, said premises lying in Howland in said County.

Said real estate is a part of the same described in a will recorded in the Registry of Probate of said County, Vol. 100, page 2[illegible].

STATE OF MAINE.

PENOBSCOT, SS. Sup. Jud. Court, April Term, 1886.

To the Hon. Supreme Judicial Court within and for the County of Penobscot:

The Bodwell Water Power Company, a body corporate under the laws of Maine, respectfully represents, that it desires to construct dams and make other improvements under its charter.

That said charter requires said corporation before so doing, to ascertain the exact amount of water passing down the Stillwater Branch of Penobscot River, from said River, at different stages of water during summer [illegible].

Therefore, said corporation prays that some competent hydraulic engineer may be appointed by the court for said purpose, and as provided by an act entitled "An act to amend and make valid the organization of the Bodwell Water Power Company, and for other purposes" approved February 28th, 1883.

And your petitioners further represent that George H. Hamlin of Orono, Professor of Civil Engineering, of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, is such suitable and competent hydraulic engineer.

Dated at Bangor, May 10th, 1886.
The Bodwell Water Power Company,
By CHARLES HAMLIN, Its Solicitor.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
